Tacoma Community College
tacomacc.edu

Thank you!

to the staff, faculty, volunteers and the TCC Foundation, who supported our Commencement ceremony.

Tell us about your TCC experience.

Take our survey - your feedback will help us serve future TCC students.

Today, we come together to celebrate a remarkable milestone, your graduation. On behalf of all of us at Tacoma Community College, I want to share how proud we are of your accomplishments. This moment is the result of your hard work, resilience, and determination, and it's a joy to share it with your families, friends, and loved ones.

This year is especially meaningful as we mark TCC's 60th anniversary, six decades of serving as the community's college. Since opening our doors in 1965, we have grown alongside the South Sound region, always staying true to one enduring promise: to place students at the heart of everything we do. Your success is, and always will be, our mission.

For 60 years, TCC graduates have gone on to lead, serve, innovate, and inspire in every corner of our community and beyond. You now join this proud legacy, and we can't wait to see how you'll shape the future with your talent, passion, and purpose.

As you begin your next chapter, whether it's starting a new job, transferring to a university, launching a business, or pursuing another dream, know that you will always be a part of the TCC family. When you reach that next milestone, we hope you'll share your success with us. We'll be cheering you on every step of the way.

Take this day to celebrate all you've achieved, and everyone who supported you along the way. You've earned it.

Congratulations, Class of 2025!

Ivan L. Harrell, II., Ph.D.
TCC President

COMMENCEMENT SYMBOLISM

THE MACE AND THE MEDALLION

The Commencement Procession begins with the entrance of the Mace, a symbol of authority dating from medieval times. This year, Faculty Speaker Joseph Colón will present the Mace. The Mace is embossed with the College Seal, a symbol meant to be used only on formal occasions such as Commencement. The Roman numerals on the college seal, "MCMLXV," translate to 1965, the year the college was founded. The seal also includes a book and a lamp, symbols of learning.

The TCC Medallion, which also bears the college seal, is worn by TCC President, Ivan L. Harrell, II, Ph.D.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Originally worn to classes by students and professors, academic regalia is now reserved for Commencement ceremonies. Different styles, colors, and textures of caps and gowns represent different degrees and fields of study. Faculty and staff participating in the Commencement procession wear the regalia representing the highest degree they have obtained.

GRADUATE REGALIA

Students graduating with certificates, high school diplomas, and associate degrees wear blue caps and gowns.

Students graduating with bachelor's degrees wear black caps and gowns.

CORDS AND STOLES

Honor cords, worn draped around the neck, are distributed to students who attain specific distinctions:

- High Honors: 3.70 or higher grade point average, double gold.
- Honors: 3.5 to 3.69 grade point average, single gold.
- Phi Theta Kappa International Honors Society: blue and gold.
- U.S. Military Veteran: red, white and blue.

Stoles, which are wide, flat pieces of fabric worn draped around the neck, may represent military or veteran status, cultural heritage, or membership in a club or community.

CHARLES SCHUELKE
STUDENT

First-generation engineering student Charles Schuelke is TCC's Ellen Pinto Outstanding Student of the Year and one of the college's All-Washington Scholars for 2025. He brings the adaptability and problem-solving skills developed through significant life challenges to his materials engineering major, and he believes that speaking up about his justice-involved background helps his fellow students understand that engineers from non-traditional backgrounds can bring important perspectives to the field. He plans to transfer to the University of Washington after graduating this June.

At TCC, Schuelke is immersed in student life. He works as a re-entry navigator for justice-involved students in the Center for Student Advocacy and Cultural Support, serves as an ASTCC Student Senator, and regularly organizes study groups for his fellow engineering students.

Schuelke says that his strongest motivations come from knowing that his leadership and collaboration skills will allow him to support and inspire others, creating a dynamic and innovative research environment that benefits everyone involved. As an engineer, he hopes to develop innovative solutions that address real-world issues.

"This path allows me to make meaningful contributions to the future of sustainable materials and foster positive change in society through science," Schuelke said.

JOSEPH COLÓN

FACULTY

Joseph Colón has spent the last six years teaching the same Adult Basic Education classes he took as a TCC student. As Lakes High School graduate, he had worked as an RV mechanic for several years when he started taking night classes at the college, working his way up from Math 74 to a degree in formal logic from the University of Puget Sound. He then obtained a Masters in Curriculum Design from Western Governor's University (WGU).

At TCC, Colón found working up from pre-college to college math a long and difficult process, and decided that if he could make it through the math sequence, he'd love to make a career of helping other people do the same thing. TCC has since refined its approach to pre-college math, and Colón now helps students get the support they need to move into college-level work as quickly as possible. He believes that, with support, many of his students will be successful at college level, but they need Adult Basic Education classes to help them "slay their math trauma demon."

"People think math is this genetic marker you have in your DNA, which isn't true," Colón said. "I tell my students, it's just like if you're learning a foreign language, or learning to play football; you have to practice a lot."

GRISELDA CURINGTON

STAFF

Griselda Curington's TCC journey began in 2016 with the high school completion program. A proud mother of four, she relocated from El Paso, Texas, determined to build a better future for her family. Her cultural identity continues to guide her path and purpose.

After earning her high school diploma, Curington stayed at TCC to complete her Associate's degree in Human Services. She is now pursuing her Bachelor of Applied Science in Community Health and working full-time as a TCC Access Services Testing Coordinator. She plans to become a counselor.

At the heart of her journey is her mother, who taught her how to embrace who she is. It was her mother's unwavering love and belief in her potential that gave Curington the endurance to keep going when the path was difficult and the courage to dream bigger than her circumstances.

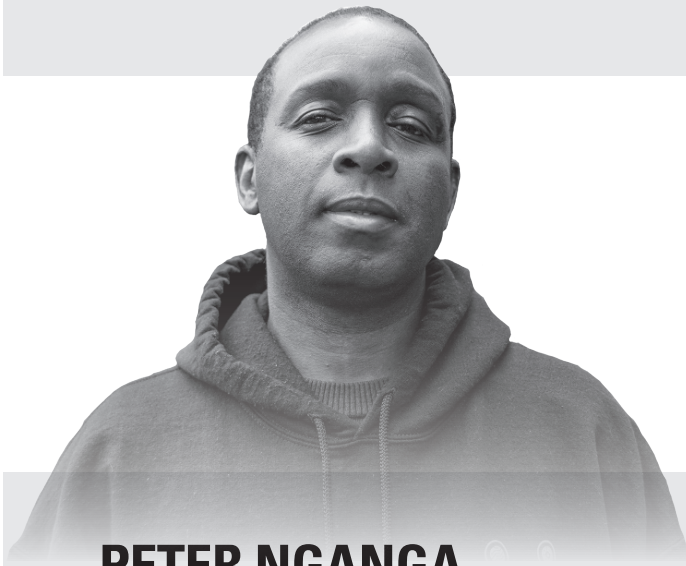

Curington shares that none of this would be possible without her family, friends, and coworkers. Though she wears many hats, the one she values most is being a mom. Every step she has taken in her education and career has been rooted in love and purpose for her children.

In 2023, she crossed the Commencement stage as a proud Human Services graduate. This year, she returns as the Staff Speaker.

"I never realized people were watching me," Curington said. "But I guess they saw my determination. A mom of four, working and going to school. It wasn't easy, but I showed up and did the work. And that matters."

The President's Medal is the highest honor awarded to a graduating student at TCC. This recognition is presented to individuals who have demonstrated outstanding academic excellence, leadership, and perseverance. Recipients of the President's Medal represent the very best of TCC and embody the values that define our mission and spirit.

2024-2025 President's Medal Recipients

PETER NGANGA

Peter Nganga came to the United States from Kenya in 2022. While working as a caregiver in a long-term care facility, he decided to give nursing school a try.

He enrolled at TCC and completed the pre-nursing program while working as a Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) at St. Claire Hospital. He starts the Nursing program at WSU's Tri-Cities campus in the fall.

"I've got a lot of support for everyone, and it's been a good place for me," Nganga said. "I've learned a lot in the last two years, and the support was affirming."

HAYDEN NGUYEN

Hayden Nguyen, a Running Start student from Mount Tahoma High School, will transfer into the University of Washington's biochemistry program in the fall. He plans to work in the field for a while before pursuing an advanced degree.

At TCC, Nguyen participated in the MESA program, which provides resources for students going into math and science fields, and played the flute in the TCC Symphonic Band.

"I have a few favorite classes here at TCC, but one of them is my chemistry class. I'm taking Organic Chemistry with Jeff Engle and he's a really great professor. He really helped me figure out what I wanted to do with my future and provided a lot of academic advising," Nguyen said.

2025 Distinguished Alumnus

MELISSA LITTLETON

Melissa Littleton's journey at Tacoma Community College began as a Workforce Training student, a devoted wife, and mother of four young children. She enrolled in TCC's Business program, where her entrepreneurial spirit shone, and she earned first place in the 2020 Williams Factory Small Business Incubator Business Idea & Pitch Competition.

Her leadership qualities quickly stood out. Littleton served as Student Body President in 2020 and 2021, advocating for student needs and leading through a time of great change. Upon graduating with a Bachelor of Applied Science in Applied Management in Business in 2022, she was awarded the prestigious President's Medal for academic excellence.

While at TCC, Littleton expanded her horizons beyond business. An internship with the State Board for Community and Technical Colleges sparked a growing interest in public service. That passion led her to Washington, D.C., where, as both Student Body President and State Board Legislative Intern, she advocated for students on Capitol Hill. The experience shifted her trajectory.

After graduation, Littleton joined Governor Jay Inslee's office as a Regional Representative, serving communities across the South Sound and Olympic Peninsula. She was later appointed to the Interagency Committee of State Employed Women (ICSEW) for her commitment to public service. Today, she continues this work under Governor Bob Ferguson.

Reflecting on her journey, Littleton shares, "TCC allowed me to explore. It gave me the opportunity to immerse. It allowed me to cultivate my leadership. It was one of the most magical times in my life, because I completely evolved through that opportunity."

Melissa Littleton exemplifies the power of education to transform lives and communities—and she continues to inspire as a leader, advocate, wife, and changemaker.
